Agenda Item # 1: Ravi River Urban Development Project (RRUDP)

Rani said that a statement from WAF should be out before the court hearing - Fauzia will do the statement of about 2 to 3 paras and have it ready by tomorrow.

Fauzia gave an update: Rafay Alam has filed a plea to the Lahore High Court, The Judge is Justice Shams Mahmood Mirza, and members said he was someone who was sympathetic to environmental issues. The plea is on the basis that the Consultant is not registered with the government and this is a violation of the law. May get a Stay.

WC Members felt that it was important for WAF to highlight the issue of displacement of about 100,000 people. Fauzia was also very concerned about the effort of this project to 'train' the river by building high walls to determine its course.

HRCP is also pursuing the issue of the displacement of so many people, including women and children.

Rani said that was good, as multiplicity of cases would lead to more awareness among the public. There is also a public hearing of RRUDP on Sunday.

Bunny suggested that WAF could also do a case, to increase pressure, after seeing how the cases which have already been filed are proceeding.

Fauzia wondered how the Big Dams issue had been dealt with. Rani said there had been a Commission headed by Omar Asghar Khan and many of its suggestion were incorporated by the Government in their Guidelines.

Apparently, people displaced by Tarbela and Mangla Dams have still not settled their compensation issues. There is also the question of how useful these dams have been.

Mehreen will share research her on the Dams.

Agenda Item # 2: Single National Curriculum

Neelam, together with Erum, has been talking on the You Tube channel Native Media and waiting for feedback on the two episodes.

It was agreed that this issue needs much more awareness, particularly on mainstream media, especially as the government was giving their view constantly.

It was decided that the WAF Policy Paper would be sent to:

Hamid Mir

Najam Sethi

Mubashir Zaidi (Zara Hat Kay – DAWN)

Others we can think off.

Rani said that Naya Daur TV was listened to by Policy Makers.

The idea being to make more people aware.

Volunteers are needed to talk on Programmes when/if invited.

The ongoing discussion on this subject continued to decide what should be discussed in the final presentation to the GB and New Members.

Agenda Item # 6: Aurat March

Neelam had brought up this subject and was concerned about the theme of the Aurat March on 8th March i.e. Washing Dirty Linen. Neelam was wondering what the impact of putting up dirty clothes in public spaces, like the Mall, would have on the public in general and the working class women in particular. Thought the Aurat March organizers need to reflect on this idea, and especially as ‘Washing your dirty linen in public’, was a very English idiom and may not be understood by a majority of women.

Bunny said the theme for the Aurat March this year was to focus on Women’s health issues.

It was decided that the next WAF meeting on Wednesday would be open to the General Body and the Aurat March organizers would also be invited to discuss the 8th March programme.
